Preface: Texas House Bill 3186, passed 2023 Texas Legislative Session, requires all municipal courts to develop written youth diversion strategies and procedures for children accused of non-traffic fine-only offenses. HB 3186 is known as the “Texas Youth Diversion and Early Intervention Act.” This act goes into effect on January 1, 2025. The Act requires all municipal courts to adopt a written plan that diverts children accused of a misdemeanor punishable by fine only (other than a traffic offense) to diversion services for up to 180 days. The following plan is adopted by this court, in compliance with SB3186.

Ineligible Juvenile Defendants: Juvenile defendants who have had a previously unsuccessful diversion or if a prosecutor objects, are not eligible for this type of diversion. Juvenile defendants who do not comply with the terms of a diversion agreement will be referred to the Presiding Judge of Municipal Court for a hearing and may face.

Diversion strategies include: requiring a child to participate in relevant programming (including court-approved teen court programs, school-related programs, alcohol or tobacco awareness and drug education programs, rehabilitations programs, and self-improvement programs); referring a child to a service provider; or requiring a child to participate in mediation, submit to drug and alcohol testing, and/or comply with a course of treatment prescribed by a physician or mental health professional.
